

TAKE SPECIAL NOTICE OF PARENTS

Caution: Because quite often other causes can be attributed to the observed behaviors, no one of the following necessarily indicates an abusive situation.

Take special notice of parents who:

- Show little concern for their child's problems.
Respond inappropriately to the seriousness of a problem.
Take an unusual amount of time to seek health care for the child.
- Are unusually antagonistic and hostile
when talking about the child's problems.
- Seem "absent" or literally cannot be found.
Do not respond to the clergy's (teacher's) inquiries.
May never be present for parents' nights.
- Do not adequately explain an injury.
Give different explanations of the same injury.
Continue to complain about irrelevant problems unrelated to the injury.
Suggest that the cause of an injury can be attributed to a third party.
- Are reluctant to share information about the child.
- Use alcohol or drugs.
- Have no friends, neighbors, or relatives to turn to in crises.
- Have unrealistic expectations for the child.
- Are very strict disciplinarians.
- Were themselves abused, neglected, or deprived as children and have not worked on the residual effects.
- Have taken the child to different doctors, clinics, or hospitals for past injuries.
- May suffer from a personality disorder.
